WALTER L. STEELE,

FOR CONGRESS, SEVENTH DISTRICT:

ROBERT F. ARMFIELD,

of Iredell.

ELECTION, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5TH.

Congressional Convention.

A Convention of the Democrats and Conservatives of the Fourth District, will be held in the city of Raleigh, on Thursday the 22nd day of August next, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress. Each county will be entitled to one vote for every one hundred votes and fractional part over fifty, given by Gov. Vance in 1876.

By order of District Ex. Committee,

M. A. LYNDEN, Jr., Chairman.

The Democratic papers in the District will please copy.

Independence is an alliance with Radicalism.

An excursion from Richmond over the Richmond and Danville Railroad to Boatsford has been projected for some date in August.

The Richmond and Danville Railroad has entered into contract for sufficient excursions to keep one extra conductor engaged during the month of August.

Thomas J. Dula, of Wilkes, some time ago announced as a Republican candidate for Solicitor of the seventh district against Jo. Dobson, has retired from the field.

The Reidsville Times thinks that General Clingman should either start a paper of his own, or get somebody to choke off Vance's organ as that paper is pleased to term the News.

The Charlotte people who have gone mountaineering this summer, have selected Hendersonville, and are located in one large building about a mile from the town, enjoying mountain life in true country style.

Prince Louis Napoleon is said to have set out for Denmark on matrimony intent, but his religion stood in the way of an alliance with the royal family of that kingdom, and he went on to Sweden, a disappointed youth.

Colonel Henry T. Farmer, of Flat Rock, announces himself an Independent Democratic candidate for the Senate from Henderson, Transylvania and Haywood, against the regular Democratic nominee, Colonel Terrell W. Taylor.

By the fast schedule over the Western North Carolina Railroad and its stage connections, passengers leaving Asheville late in the afternoon breakfast in Greensboro and arrive at Raleigh before midday, or if going North would dine at Richmond and sup at Washington.

The Reidsville Times does not believe that Colonel John R. Winston is a Communist, or has any sympathy with that class of tramps. It says the Colonel is a little heated and wild on the greenback and grange subject, but will get all right after the sun goes in eclipse.

The trail of the Radical serpent in Guilford is thus portrayed by the Greensboro Patriot: The Radical party left a debt of $27,000 on the county, for which there is nothing to show. Since the Democratic party has come into power it has incurred no debt for county expenses, and besides has reduced the taxes on the people to a figure as low as, if not less than any county in the State. And now the Radicals, under the disguise of "Independents," are trying to get control of the county again.

The Washington Star says that private information received in that city from Indiana is to the effect that Mr. Voorhees has overcome the Democratic combination formed to defeat his return to the United States Senate and that Mr. Holman will be nominated by the Democrats of the Fifth District of the State for re-election to Congress.

It is said that Judge Tourgee has an eye to a Congressional candidacy against General Seales. Colonel Winston having declared himself a National candidate, the Radicals hope for something from the split he may be able to make in the Democratic ranks, and they are willing to sacrifice the Judge in the experiment. This wily game of the Greensboro Ring will not succeed. The peculiar province of that ring is to hold office, not make successful campaigns.

Too much vigilance cannot be exercised regarding the State Democratic ticket. Through the agency and assistance of Republicans, Captain William M. Cooke, of Asheville, an independent candidate for Judge in opposition to James C. L. Gudger, in the ninth district, has had the regular State Democratic ticket, with Cooke in place of Gudger, circulated all over the State, and unless one is careful to see that he has the ticket with the name of Gudger among the district judges, he will be voting a ticket for the Radicals.

The present is the most successful season Beaufort has had in many years. The mountains of Western North Carolina were never so full of visitors as this summer, and there were never so many strangers in North Carolina from other States, North and South, as now; nor so few of our people ever before sought summer resorts abroad. These are good signs. They show that North Carolinians are beginning to appreciate the resources of their State; that strangers have discovered the attractions that we present; and that Western North Carolina, with railroad communications, is fast becoming the mountain summer resort of the Eastern, Middle and Southern States.

The Winston Republican sings the tune of a down in the mouth organ. It is positively dumb on all matters respecting the campaign in its own county, but goes off to Surry and Yadkin to show that Mr. Richmond Pearson is not an eligible candidate for the Senate, and if he were eligible, Mr. J. M. Brower, Republican, will beat him anyhow. This remains to be seen. Mr. Brower has been a candidate before, and in the flush times of Republicanism, but always remains conspicuous in the Legislature by his absence. Mr. Pearson's eligibility is not a question for the Union Republican to decide; his election by the people is, and of the result there is not the shadow of a doubt on the part of Mr. Pearson's success.

The Roumanians are beginning to discover, says the American Register, that the new territory which they receive in exchange for a part of Bessarabia has considerable advantages. The port of Kustendie accommodates 13 steamers along its quay, and it is estimated that a safe harbor could be formed at an expenditure of twelve millions of francs. Kervena is likewise an excellent harbor, and very little money would be required in order to make it one of the best ports on the Black Sea. The Dobruzska, in the hands of an enterprising and commercial people, may be transformed into a very valuable territory. It had been so utterly neglected under Turkish rule that its capabilities are like those discovered in a country previously unknown.

The radical organ at Greensboro has found a mark of serious demerit against Col. J. I. Seales, candidate for the Senate from Guilford and Alamance. Colonel Seales, it says, is not a native of the county, but came there from Rockingham. This is rather cool impudence in a paper owned and controlled by and in the interest of a set of strangers to the people and every interest of North Carolina. Colonel Seales is a life long neighbor to the people of Guilford. He never was an alien among them, and for some years has been a citizen, in good faith, of the county. He served the people of Guilford and Alamance most acceptably in the Senate two years ago, and they know what they are doing in returning him now. The organ of the Greensboro Ring cannot produce much effort on the steady, intelligent people of Guilford and Alamance counties.

A wheezy, cracked Radical organ, calling itself the Union Republican, says the reason why the Raleigh press does not take to the Greenback party is because of the prejudice of these papers against greenbacks; that that currency is a badge of Southern defeat, having been first adopted and issued to bring soldiers into the field necessary to crush the South, and hence the Democratic press is opposed to the Greenback party. Not at all. The Raleigh papers are much attached to greenbacks, and neither were ever known to reject one. On the contrary they heard them. Look at any of the bank statements published from time to time, and see what large lines of deposits the banks here carry. Ninety per cent of these deposits, at least, belong to the accounts of the two daily papers of Raleigh, and if they were at all hostile to the greenbacks they would draw them out, bond the notes and thereby burst up the banks. So, far from hostility these papers are decidedly on the side of greenbacks. The Democracy of this State, the South and West, is for greenbacks, and the necessity for a greenback party distinguished from the Democratic is not seen. It is the movement not the measure that the papers here question, for the so-called greenback movement looks like a Radical effort to divide the Democratic party.

The Milton Chronicle speaking of the candidacy of Hon. Giles Mebane makes a splendid example of standing by the party action determined in convention, and Father Evans being one of the most independent thinkers and writers in the State, his precepts and example are worth something. The Chronicle says:—

"It was reported in Reidsville Saturday, on what was deemed good authority, that Mr. Mebane was in Person canvassing the county. As an act of justice to that gentleman, we felt called on to contradict the report, and did so. We are pleased to learn, since our return home, that the report is totally unfounded. Mr. Mebane is making no canvass at home or abroad, and interfering in no shape or form with the election. This much we say of him in the face of the fact that we expect to abide by the nominations of the late convention and shall go the whole hog, bristles and all, though it would have given us great pleasure to support Mr. Mebane, had the convention, which we endorsed, nominated him. We feel it to be our duty to stand by the nominees of the convention, come what may."

Political indications in the Piedmont are all favorable to the Democracy. The county campaigns are progressing finely, and as the day of election approaches it is apparent that the Radicals and Independents are making no perceptible impressions on the ranks of the true Democracy. The Salem Press, always remarkable for its truthfulness and caution says:— The Conservative Democratic triumph will be complete in Forsyth. We have everything to encourage us, while, on the other hand, the Republicans are split up and divided among themselves, some are independent, a number have gone over to the National party, so-called, being disgusted with Republican radicalism, we presume, while others still hang on to the old radical issues and growl! As we stated last week, the principles set forth by the new party, calling themselves Nationalists, are nothing new to the Conservative Democratic party—they are in accord with them, and there is, therefore, no valid reason for any split, scratch or change the ticket of the regular party nominees. Let us remain united, register and vote the regularly nominated Conservative Democratic ticket, and all will be well.

The Western North Carolina Railroad.

This route to the mountains of our State, and its stage connections from Henry, westward, is now in splendid condition for the accommodation and comfort of tourists, health and pleasure seekers.

The schedule is the quickest and best ever before adopted. Passengers taking supper in Raleigh, breakfast at Henry, and reach Asheville in the early forenoon. The time from Salisbury is now, by the new stage and lively line of Brown and Verber, eleven hours from Salisbury to Asheville, including the stoppage at Henry for breakfast. The schedule of the fast, close connecting, tri-weekly train, which will next week become a daily, and carrying the mail, is: Leave Salisbury at midnight, arrive at Asheville at 1:34 a. m., Hickory at 3:10, Morganton at 4:14, and Henry at 6:09 a. m. Returning, leave Henry at 9:00 p. m., arrive at Morganton at 10:53, Hickory, 11:58, Statesville, 1:37, and Salisbury, 3:30 a. m.

This is the shortest and most attractive route to Western North Carolina, and will place the mails in Asheville nine hours ahead of anything ever achieved before.

The Outlook for the State.

As election day approaches, the signs of unity and harmony in the Democratic party are better. Independents here and there are withdrawing from the contest, and the Radicals are growing disheartened in counties where they have made open contests. There is and has been no doubt as to the Legislature being at least two-thirds straight Democratic, and instead of aiding, the Independents have damaged the Radicals in their campaign. The only effort necessary from the beginning was to keep the Democracy in line of battle and preserve its organization. This has been done, and the Independents were made to feel how futile were their efforts to make an impression on the people so completely standing together.

It was the hope of the Radicals, Independents and bolters, that by combining the three elements the Democracy might again be defeated in the matter of United States Senator, and to this end the enemies of Governor Vance forced his name into the Senatorial contest along with that of Senator Merrimon. But the Democrats stood firm to their party organization, and the strength which the Independent movement has developed was the strength the disorganized Radicals were able to lend it. Score one for Vance and united Democracy.

Hon. W. A. Graham.

We extract the following just and graceful tribute to this distinguished son of Orange from an article contributed by Maj. Jno. W. Moore in the last number of the Murfreesboro Enquirer:—"Ex-Gov. W. A. Graham at this time (1863) replaced in the C. S. Senate, George Davis of Wilmington. Gov. Graham had already given long and illustrious service to the State and was, in some respects, the greatest man North Carolina ever produced. Unlike Andrew Jackson, he had no infirmities of temper; nor did he harbor prejudice or resentment. He had none of the frailties which clung so closely to the first William Hooper, Gov. Iredell and Senator Mangum. He never veered with the shifting winds of political opportunity like Andrew Johnson and Judge Pearson. Nor did he, as any time outrage his opponents by the violence of his reprimands. Such was the majesty of his words, the consistency and evident purity of purpose throughout his life, that, supplemented by the grandeur of his presence, he was the nearest reproduction of George Washington yet seen in America. To entire blamelessness of private life he added political consistency, and was as admirable in social relations as when presiding over the fortunes of the State, or as cabinet minister at Washington, he was protecting a commerce which whitened every sail with its sails. When he arose to address deliberative bodies it was the signal for universal attention. On an occasion he seemed the embodiment of statesmanship; for

"Deep on his front engraven, Deliberation sat and public care."
